Remainder of schools opening tomorrow

Livermore Valley Unified schools and Sunol Glen School open for the 1976-77 school year Monday with nearly the same number of students expected as began 1975-76.

The major projected increase in Livermore is expected at the high school level where 4,590 are projected to be enrolled by October 1. The May count of students at Livermore high schools showed 4,084 students.

Total projected enrollment for the district by Oct. 1 is 14,551.

Sunol Glen has hired a new fourth grade teacher, Rebecca Radulovich, who formerly taught in the Berryessa School District in San Jose. Marilyn Ordoins will start her first full year as cafeteria supervisor.

Livermore's last enrollment count, taken May 21, showed 14,218. The 14,551 projected figure would amount to an increase of 333 students initially. However, a district spokesman said the October, 1976. will probably drop-off at mid-year.

The district projects 7,646 K-6 students, 2,315 seventh-eighth grade, and 4,590 high school students. The May figures for last school year were 7,571, 2,563 and 4,084, respectively.

Four schools will have new principals.

Les Imel and Jack Snodgrass are the new principals at Arroyo Mocho and Granada High School, respectively. Joe Malia and Lloyd Teel have switched schools with Malia now at Portola and Teel at Smith.

Other school districts in the valley opened last week.

Still to open is Greenbrook Elementary School in the San Ramon Valley Unified School District. The new K-6 facility will open next Monday. Final construction was delayed by an electricians' strike.

Foothill High School in the Amador Valley Joint High School District has announced its calendar of events, resuming with a Band Boosters' Club meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the music room.

The school's advisory council will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the library.

Coming up later in the month are a senior class parent advisory committee meeting Sept. 22, and freshmen class elections Sept. 29.

The Foothill Athletic Boosters held a barbecue Saturday to honor Don Landers, former principal. The Boosters are also conducting a raffle to raise funds for lighting and bleachers at the school's football field.

Wrong $ figures caused ballot error

A $7 million miscalculation included in a ballot resolution on the proposed valley wastewater pipeline has been attributed to the use of 1975 dollar figures instead of 1979 cost estimates which include inflation

A resolution unanimously approved by officials of the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) on Aug. 19 listed total project cost for the proposed pipe-

Schools issue spurs Murray gathering

Residents - In - Action will conduct a mass meeting Tuesday night at Shannon Community Center in Dublin to gather support for possible alternatives to conversion of a Murray School District facility and busing of kindergarten through sixth grade students.

The meeting comes one day before the penultimate Citizens Advisory Committee session to determine recommendations on the question of conversion versus status quo. An opinion on that subject will be presented to Murray trustees at their meeting of Monday, Oct. 4.

However, the CAC apparently has determined conversion of an existing K-8 or K-6 school to strictly seventh - eighth grade use is the best solution. Additionally, the group has voiced strong support for converting of Frederiksen and/or Dublin School to seventh - eighth grade use. Any recommendation adopted by the board would not be implemented until the 1977-78 school year.

Tuesday night's meeting, which follows a procedural gathering held Friday at the Herrington residence in Dublin, will start at 7 p.m. Shannon Community Center, 11600 Shannon Ave., just off San Ramon Valley Road.

The following night, Wednesday, the CAC will hold its next to last gathering at Frederiksen School at 7:30 p.m.

Both meetings are open to the public.

Tuesday's session could draw additional south - of - 580 residents as part of the RIA thrust is support of improvements to Donlon School. Committee organizers have stressed the group is open to residents of the entire Murray district and does not want to foster any competition between residents of various school areas.

Jerry Herrington and Lenore Holmes of Dublin have been instrumental in the group's organization.

Meanwhile, district administrators have received the RIA petitions supporting no conversion of Dublin School, no busing of K-6 children out of their home area and improvements to Donlon School. They have also rviewed 124 pages of comments turned in with surveys, which show the community exactly split on the question of conversion versus maintaining of the present organizational setup.

Following are comments of some Lydiksen School K-6 parents;

"As a resident of Pleasanton, I am opposed to having my children transported to Dublin to attend junior high. In the areas of Pleasanton that are unfortunately in the Murray district, I would like to see one school to accommodate the 7-8 students and as Donlon has already a 7-8 division, I would like to see emphasis placed on converting that school to a total junior high program."

"Have five kids and want the conversion on the Pleasanton side."

"We feel it is an important part of the children's growth to be grouped with 7-8 graders rather than combining them with 1-6 graders."

"I have been working on the CAC and I recommend that Dublin School be converted to a 7-8 school. In deciding how the divisions of school areas are made, I suggest a heterogenous grouping scholastically with as little disruption to the students at Wells as possible."

"The teaching and administration at Wells leaves a lot to be desired. More solid classes and less electives would possibly lead to better structured classes."

"We are not happy with the existing organization but we don't want our children bused. With the taxes we pay we expect more from our school system than we are getting. Bussing is OUT.

"I do not want my elementary grade child bused out of my neighborhood school."

"I don't understand why Lydiksen is in the Murray School District in the first - place since it is in Pleasanton, not Dublin."

"We were VERY UPSET in the district's decision to spend THOUSANDS of dollars for site work for a new intermediate school prior to having voter approval for the buildings. We have talked to MANY people who feel as we do — those of us who have lived in the district a long period of time, voted for the last construction dollars and are paying for them, will not reap the benefits; our children will be long gone before that intermediate school becomes a reality. The money spent on site work could have been put to better use.

A shady mail order weekend

PLEASANTON — Columbia Research Corporation has been mailing out advertisements for "fabulous" supposedly low cost Las Vegas weekends to local residents apparently in violation of a court injunction forbidding it.

Local resident Don Frega received one of the advertising mailers recently and called it to the attention of The Times which investigated.

We learned that the state Attorney General's office successfully obtained an injunction last December forbidding Columbia Research from mailing advertising into the state.

Jim Cuneo of the Attorney General's office in San Francisco said that anyone who receives such a letter should send the letter, including envelope with postmark on it, to his office, State Building, Room 6000, San Francisco, 94102. The postmark will be proof that the firm mailed the letter after the date of the injunction forbidding it, said Cuneo.

The letter from Columbia Research, which mispelled Frega's name and address, promised a "three day holiday for two" supposedly "on the house," including "deluxe lodging paid in full in fabulous Las Vegas."

The letter promised Frega "well over $300 in benefits including lodging, food and beverage allowance, roll after roll of cash nickels, a bundle of match play money good for casino play, Keno tickets, and free slot machine play" plus a new air - conditioned Chevrolet for 24 hours.

All Frega has to do is mail in a check for $15.95, said the letter.

What the letter didn't say was filled in by Cuneo because the Attorney General has had many complaints about Columbia Research's operation. The basic problem was "non - delivery of services advertised," said Cuneo.

Columbia Research didn't say in its first letter that it would send out a second letter asking more money for the fabulous weekend in Las Vegas. And people who took the vacations found out about the "free" stuff. It was free all right, but you got a free dinner only if you bought one. You got $1 in free chips if you bought $2 worth.

The testimonials quoted in the advertising letter are very old, said Cuneo. Some people experienced difficulty getting together with Columbia Research for a date for their vacation trip. And those who couldn't make it didn't get their money back, though a guaranteed refund was promised, said Cuneo.

The firm is run by Cay Anderson, who used to sell sewing machines by mail order, said Cuneo.

Oh, and those fabulous weekends in Las Vegas always fell during the week because you could never use the trip on a weekend, Cuneo added.

Apperson: Year to claim title

State law actually gives William Apperson, whose plans to build a dude ranch in the Sunol hills may be quashed by the forced sale of part of his land holdings, a full year in which to reclaim the title he may have to auction off in two months.

Last Friday Apperson was to sell enough of the 2,500 acre ranch to satisfy a three-year-old, $86,000 court judgement awarded attorneys of his late father's estate.

But Apperson's attorney, Joseph Joiner, came through with an eleventh - hour extension on the note that postpones the sale until Nov. 10.

But by state law, a person forced to sell property to satisfy a judgement has another year in which to reclaim the title by paying back the auction price.

"It's not a very marketable title" for the buyer, said Joiner, because it must be surrendered if the original owner comes up with the money. And of course,that makes it harder to borrow against to finance the purchase.

But at the same time, the de facto extension for Apperson is "risky," added Joiner, since "if someone has a hard time borrowing against the land now with full title, think how hard it would be if the title were clouded."

Joiner will not elaborate on the reason for the 60-day extension, but said there are "two or three things going" in attempts to save the planned 145 - acre dude ranch.

Apperson's attempts to build the Diamond A Guest Ranch were stymied when he was sued by environmentalists.

His opponents lost their case, but have appealed. The appeal probably won't be heard for another year.

The San Francisco law firm of Hanson, Bridgett, Marcus and Jenkins originally postponed settlement of the $86,000 claim at Apperson's request. The judgement would have been paid once the guest ranch had been operational.

Apperson plans to build 322 guest cottages surrounded by a tennis center, health spa, youth camp, restaurants and equestrian trail.

His plans call for development on 145 acres of the northern 1,300 acres of the ranch, with the remainder to remain in open space.

Selling off part of the lands would void he "open space" condition of the county permit and send him back through the county bureaucracy.

His opponents fear development will deteriorate the surrounding Sunol Regional Park and may lead to more development on adjoining land.

They have urged the East Bay Regional Park District to buy the Apperson spread at the public auction, but the district has not yet reached a decision.

Hotline wants emergency cash

PLEASANTON — Hotline, Inc. has requested a $12,222 emergency allotment from the county board of supervisors.

"A cutback in federal funding and a delay in new contract negotiations made it necessary for us to do this," said Candace Ingram, executive director of Hotline, Inc.

This community based service offers drug and alcohol abuse information, referral, education and counseling programs. Their office is located at 4361 Railroad Ave., suite C, Pleasanton, Calif., (415)-462-5544.

Last year the program received $68,198 from county revenue sharing. Another $47,800 was provided by a SB-714 (senate bill) source and was designated for drug related services.

Revenue sharing funds supported the balance of th program. Famiiy counseling, parent training group, Chicano Outreach, Youth Outreach and Alternatives are some catagories receiving help from these funds.

This year SB-714 money was cut to $23,353. It covered some costs connected with Drug Diversion Counseling and Alternatives, rent, utilities, office supplies, activities and workers' salaries.

"We received the cut in drug money this year," Ingram said, "because they told us we didn't have a sufficient number of narcotic dependents in this area to warrant getting the same amoutt as last year. They were using Oakland as a basis of comparison."

To make matters worse the county contract for this year has not been finalized. It has been hung up at the federal level in the senate.

"The county board of supervisors extended our old contract and gave us emergency funding," Ingram said. "It amounts to one-twelfth of the original allotment or about $2,037 per month. That was certainly a big help but we do need more."

Hotline, Inc. hopes to hear about their new contract in October. However, by the time it filters down through red tape at federal, state and county levels, December is the earliest it is expected to be implemented.

"If we don't receive the $12,222 we've requested, I don't even want to think about it," said Ingram. "I've already had to lay off two part-time workers."

Remaining workers are having to double their duties.

Other alternatives will be to cut back salaries or lay off more staff.

The request is going to the county board next Tuesday. Hotline, Inc. hopes to hear good news by Wednesday.

Heroin seized, two arrested inside Santa Rita Jail

PLEASANTON — Two inmates at Santa Rita Jail, each serving one year sentences on different offenses, were booked on suspicion of a variety of drug charges after deputies found a half ounce of heroin and assorted narcotics paraphernalia in their possession, the sheriff's department said yesterday.

According to reports, deputy Richard Gouveia, assigned to Barracks 1-D in the miniumum security compound for only three weeks, noticed "suspicious activity" during the early morning and late evening hours. Both men were booked on suspicion of possession of narcotics with intent to sell and possessing narcotics in a prison, both felonies, illegal use or under the influence of narcotics, illegal possession of narcotics paraphernalia, and maintaining a place where narcotics are used.

The narcotics investigation is continuing.

Pipeline ballot issue error

line at $20,985,000. The correct figure is $28,058,000

The mistake went unnoticed by LAVWMA members, bond attorneys, LAVWMA counsel and financial consultants involved. It was discovered Friday by The Oakland Tribune.

LAVWMA Chairman Robert Philcox readily admitted the mistake but said it would not affect either the saleability of the bonds or the legality of the election.

"It's obviously a wrong figure, and we'll correct it. Bond counsel assures us it will have no effect on the sale of the bonds," Philcox said Friday.

Philcox said it was an honest mistake, and doesn't think it will have any damaging effect on the Nov. 2 election. "I don't see it as having a negative effect. I think the voters will realize it was an honest mistake and they will vote according to the merits" of the pipeline proposal.The $21 million figure was used widely by press ad public draft flyer was included in the Sep.2 meeting agenda. The flyer showed the revised figure, using 1979 cost estimates instead of current dollar figures.

Federal and state grants will pay for 87.5 per cent of the project. Local cost to be shared by Pleasanton, Livermoreand Dublin, put at $8.3 million, is correctly listed in the resolution.

Valley Community Services District Director Ron Hyde, a member of LAVWMA, said he thinks voters will decide the pipeline issue on its merits, and not on inclusion of the incorrect figure. "The pipeline is essential to the valley, and should be decided on that basis."

It was unsure whether a special board meeting would be called this week to correct the mistake. The next scheduled LAVWMA meeting is Sept. 23.

Police-Foothill huddle on 680 problem

Sixteen out of approximately 50 students trying to go to Foothill High School via the rain gutters were caught by the Pleasanton Police Department on Friday morning.

A meeting was called Friday afternoon between the Police Department and school administators. Lt. Dave Freeman, and Chief Walt McCloud were in attendance from the city staff with Richard Carroll, principal, Robert Hill, assisting vice principal and Brad Knight, student body president representing Foothill High School.

The meeting was held to see what solution could be made in regard to the hazardous crossing of the 680 freeway and kids going through the rain gutters.

A spokesman said that the police were on the east side of the freeway spotting the kids as they attempted to go through the gutters and will continue to be there for the next week.

According to the student body president, the police are concerned about the kids when the rainy season apache as they fear for their lives by the fact they will be trying to run across the freeway when not able to use the rain gutters.

No definite solution was drawn as to what could be performed to solve the ever existing problem.

Those students caught using the gutters will have letters sent to them and their parents from the school as well as the Pleasanton Police Department. The school paper will also carry a story warning students not to use the underground pass or running across the freeway.

West valley hospital zoning bid heads Pleasanton council agenda

PLEASANTON — Valley Memorial Hospital will request zoning for its west valley hospital and Anthony Morici will ask office and apartment zoning for adjacent related property from the city council tomorrow night.

The zoning already received the blessings of the planning commission, over the protests of a couple of opponents who thought the zoning is premature.

Local attorney Alan Grossman, representing Dr. Edward Schlies, and former mayor Robert Pearson argued that Valley Memorial Hospital has not yet applied for a hospital permit for construction of the facility. Granting the zoning now would put the cart before the horse, they said.

Doctors who are trying to build a hospital at another location in Pleasanton have used the same argument against the zoning and they may be present tomorrow night to voice their opinion.

The doctors hope to build at a site adjacent to the future Stoneridge Regional Center, but they don't want zoning until they are sure they will have a state license to operate a hospital. The doctors group all applied for a license a couple of weeks ago.

Sources close to the hospital feel that getting the zoning now on the property would help when the hospital applies for the state license.

When the zoning application was before the planning commission, commissioners made it clear that they want to see a hospital on the site, if the zoning is granted. They don't want to see apartments and offices developed without an accompanying hospital, so they stipulated that the first stage of the hospital must be built concurrently with the apartments and offices.

Other items on the agenda include a review of Tele - Vue System's request for a subscription rate increase, consideration of the planning commission's request to change automatic car washes from permitted to conditional uses in commercial service and automobile commercial districts, and a report on BART express bus shelter and benches.

Funds for Robertson sought

LIVERMORE—Local park officials have their eyes on state funds that may help finance additional water sewage requirements for an expected increase in Robertson Park usage.

Lowell Bergman, park superintendent for the Livermore Area Recreation and Parks District, is scheduled to attend public hearings in San Francisco Friday on the Roberti - S'berg Urban Open-Space and Recreation Program (SB 174).

The program provides $25 million during this fiscal year, and possibly $75 million over a three - year period, for acquisition and development of recreational areas and facilities by various levels of government in California.

Funds are on a 75 per cent matching basis from the state.

Bergman will be seeking information on fiscal procedures, highlights of the programs and the rules and provisions governing applications.

LARPD General Manager William Payne Wednesday presented park directors with a list of four possible uses for any money obtained from SB 174.

Heading the list of priorities was a recommendation that a new sewer line and larger drinking water line be installed at Robertson Park.

"Due to the work being done on lighting by the Rotary Club," he said, "the usage of the park will probably at least double."

LARPD will be competing with other agencies on a project - by project "needs" basis for small slices of a 17 per cent portion of the pie reserved for their categories.

Another 14 per cent cut goes to heavily urbanized areas and the largest 69 per cent category goes to block grants for urbanized cities and counties.

Other projects considered by LARPD directors are:

— Robert Livermore Park: further development of the area to include tennis courts or additional turfing. The installation of the group picnic area and the curb and gutter across the front of the park in conjunction with the bicycle trail.

— Ravenswood Park: improving the area facing Arroyo Road to be developed into park for public usage.

— Sycamore Grove Park: further development to include additional hiking trails, parking and the necessary road work for the turn off and entrances.

Pre-trial hearing on pot charge

LIVERMORE — A Sept. 30 pre-trial hearing has been set in municipal court here for Robert Charles Marble, 18, 3625 Leahy Way, Livermore, on charges of marijuana cultivation for sale and possession of amphetamines.

He was arrested Aug. 20 when police arrived at his home with a search warrant. They reportedly confiscated 15 ounces of marijuana, one gram of amphetamines and 15 potted marijuana plants.

He posted $3,000 bail.

In other court action Jacob Allen Chambers, 28, of 1450 Trestle Glen, Oakland, was scheduled to enter a plea Sept. 15 on charges of a burglary at Romley's Market, 11825 Dublin Blvd., Dublin.

He was arrested in the early hours of Aug. 9 at the Romley parking lot. Police said the front door window of the store had been smashed. On the floor inside they found five burlap sacks containing approximately 100 bottles of liquor.

Police also reportedly confiscated a 45 caliber pistol from Chambers, who posted $4,500 bail.

Kaiser exec at chamber

PLEASANTON — Kaiser Sand and Gravel Co. executive Ralph L. Netzer will highlight this week's chamber of commerce luncheon with a speech and brief slide presentation on the state highway program and how it affects the Bay Area and I-580. Netzer's is the firm's vice president and director of marketing. Kaiser Sand and Gravel, with its quarries pocking the valley from Pleasanton to Livermore, has long been embroiled with state and local officials over highway construction and use.

The chamber will meet at noon at Hap's Restaurant, 122 W. Neal St.

The following program, scheduled for Sept. 21, will be at the Camp Parks Federal Youth Facility, where warden Bill Garrison has made arrangements for lunch in the facility's cafateria followed by an update on operations.

Members will board a bus in the Southern Pacific Station parking lot at noon for the 10 minute ride to the camp. Both the luncheon and ride will cost about $1.50, according to committee chairman Dewitt Ault.

Another Gold Card boost

DUBLIN — A standardized, valley wide, senior citizens' Gold Card discount program won support from the Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) last week.

The program, already endorsed by the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, could go into effect by mid November, said Valley Community Services District Recreation Department Director Bryan May.

Patterned after the national Gold Card program, which, May said, covers 10,000 senior citizens in 23 Bay Area communities, the system is designed to eliminate the plethora of individual cards now carried by seniors.

The cards are used to identify them as eligible for merchants' discounts. AC Transit officials last week came to Livermore to issue their cards at the Senior Citizen Center.

The valley's three chambers of commerce would coordinate the program, with responsibility perhaps rotating annually among the three. Letters explaining the program currently are being mailed to merchants throughout the valley.

Proponents say the program benefits merchants through increased advertising and expanded markets. Local businesses post decals on store windows identifying them as participants in the program. The chambers would maintain and periodically update and distribute a list of participating businesses and organizations.

Most communities limit Gold Card membership to those over 60, May said, but some have lowered the age to 50.

COVA's Steering Committee members, representatives from VCSD, the city councils of Livermore and Pleasanton, and Zone 7 of the water district, will return to their councils and urge them to lobby the individual chambers for support.

The Dublin Chamber of Commerce already has endorsed the program, May said. The Livermore and Pleasanton chambers had not heard of the program, their representatives said, but are interested in it.

Chamber presidents could get together by the first of the month, COVA Chairman Ken Mercer hoped, to discuss the plan.

Nemir quits Taxpayers' committee

SAN RAMON — Claudia Nemir has announced her resignation from the steering committee of Taxpayers for Local Control since she is a candidate for city council.

Nemir, a fifth - generation resident of the area, ran for city council in the 1973 incorporation attempt. She was the top vote-getter then. She was also the Republican candidate for the 10th Assembly District in 1974.

As a member of the TLC steering committee she served as vice-chairman for Alamo and chairman of the petition drive. She will remain available to the steering committee in an advisory capacity.

"I have long been committed to self - government for the Valley," Nemir says, "and I feel that it is not equitable to the other candidates to continue in a leadership role in the TLC steering committee."

Beverly Lane, campaign chairman for TLC, says there will be a general reorganization of the steering committee in view of the fact that four of its members are now city council candidates.

VCSD hit by staff shortages

DUBLIN — The Valley Community Swim Center and San Ramon Olympic Pool were unable to open at the same time as scheduled since there is a shortage of available staff members.

The San Ramon Olympic Pool will be open Sunday, Sept. 12 from 1 to 6 p.m.

The Valley Community Swim Center was open Saturday, Sept. 11 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Valley Community Services District Recreation Dept. announced they are still trying to obtain an adequate number of members to staff both pools at the same time.

The VCSD also said they are hiring lifeguards. The requirements are: A senior lifesaving certificate, course in cardio pulmonary resusitation and a multi - media first aid card.

PG&E offering 17 scholarships

College scholarships worth $4,000 each await 17 high school seniors in Pacific Gas and Electric's service territory under the company's annual James B. Black scholarship award program.

October 31 is the application deadline for the program, which is open to high school students who will graduate in 1977 and who attend school or live in PG&E's service area in Northern and Central California.

Each scholarship is for $1,000 a year for four years of undergraduate education at any accredited college or university of the student's choice in the United States. Each of 34 runnerups will receive a one-time $500 scholarship award.

Interested students may obtain application forms and information booklets from counselors at high schools in the company's service area or from its local offices.

The valley office is located at 998 Murrieta Blvd. in Livermore.

Thirteen of the scholarships are awarded according to geographical areas, apportioned among PG&E's operating divisions. Two scholarships are set aside for children of PG&E employees. These 15 scholarships are awarded on the basis of Scholastic Aptitude Test score and academic and extracurricular records.

Toying with life rings

PLEASANTON — Just as East Bay Regional Park District officials predicted, life - saving rings placed at Shadow Cliffs Park after three people drowned there this June are disappearing.

The devices are being used for toys and fishermen sit on them, according to observers. "One girl was using a life ring as a plaything and diving through it," reported Chris Nelson, chief of the EBRPD Parks and Interpretation Department.

"Fishermen use them to sit on. One of the devices was found halfway down the Arroyo.

"I think there is cause for concern when you consider that it isn't youngsters who are playing with these but people from around 18 to 30.

"Eighteen - year - olds are old enough to vote, to fight for their country or drink, but they don't respect a device which might save a life."

Nelson said the rings that are left are wearing out and becoming scrawled with dirty words.

He suggested the rings could be legally considered an "attractive nuisance."

"Suppose," he proposed, "some boy who couldn't swim very well took one of the rings for a float and then it slipped away from him and he drowned.

"I think before too much longer we won't find any of the life rings at all; they'll just disappear and that will be the end of a well - intentioned experiment."

Nelson added that sturdy wooden benches have been installed along the arroyo for fishermen and these could be floated in the water to support a drowning person.

After twenty years

Greek sister reunited with brother

By LILLY AULT

It was a joyful reunion for Efstatia and Ted Mavridis of Pleasanton when they saw each other again after 20 years of being separated. Toula, as she is called, is Ted's younger sister and is visiting here from Kavala, Greece.

The city of Kavala, Toula claims is similar to San Francisco, all built on hills, but the weather is more like that of Pleasanton. "Not, as warm as it was here for a couple of days, though," she related to the interpreter for the interview. She also advised that the town is more like Pleasanton in that it has a lot of small shops, no big shopping centers.

It's the Greece resident's first visit to the United States and she is most impressed with the "push buttons that make everything operate." She is also enthalled with the diamonds she seen. "Every lady seems to have some kind of stone," she says. Her favorite store has been Caratti Jewelers. "She keeps wanting to go in there and look around," stated Corrine Mavridis, Toula's sister-in-law.

The number of cars each family has also made a great impression on Toula. Kids do not have their own cars there as they do here.

In Kavala, according to the visitor, taxis are the main form of transportation. However, taxi service is much cheaper in her city than here.

Gasoline for cars sells for $2 per gallon, but the gallon is of greater capacity than it is here.

The young single miss is "delighted with the way of life in America" and wouldn't mind staying here as long as she has some family and learns the language. Toula speaks no English. However, she is learning a lot from her niece and nephew while they in turn are learning Greek from her. "She's catching on fast to the language," chimes in the sister-in-law.

The women of Toula's home town are "home bodies." Very few of them work. This is partly due to the fact that jobs are not available, but it's mainly that women look upon the men as head - of - the - house, therefore prefer to stay home and take care of the family.

Children remain living with their parents until they leave to get married and then some even continue to live with their parents after they are married.

The mother and father take on the full responsibility of seeing that their children are provided for and do not have to worry about working to take care of themselves. While continuing their education, the children generally live at home.

Efstatia Mavridis of Greece (center) remains a favorite with her brother, Ted of Pleasanton, despite 20 years separation and finds she has a lot in common with Ted's wife, Corrine, whom she had never met before.

"It's a very family - minded country," she says. Toula just couldn't get over the fact that children here take off on their own and get an apartment, hold down jobs, have cars and are so independent.

At the age of 35, Toula has not worked a day of her life. She lives with her mother and spends her time shopping for her, going to the beaches, reading and watching television.

In comparing prices, Toula found some to be "cheaper" and some "about the same." Basically, she explained, "everything has increased quite a bit in Kavala within the last two years, just like everywhere else." Nylon stockings are a luxury and very expensive. "Not everyone can afford them," she comments.

Television is available in black and white only. Commercials do not interrupt programs as they do in the United States. The commercials are either at the beginning or end of the program, but never during show time.

Pizza and hamburgers are available from what is known as "snack bars."

For $1.50 in Kavala a woman can get a shampoo and set. Toula was surprised to learn that she could not buy Avon across the counter as in her home town.

Fashions are pretty much the same. Women wear lots of pants, but she prefers to wear dresses. "Levi" jeans are one of the most popular fashions.

The young lady is having a "marvelous time" visiting with her brother bringing him up to date on all his friends and family. Ted's mother still owns and operates the family bakery which Ted was in charge of for many years following the death of his father after the Germans came into Kavala and beat him. He later died from wounds received in the beating.

This is the first time Corrine and Toula have met each other. They get along "beautifully" and most people take them to be sisters. Out of the five children in the family, Ted and Corrine are the only couple that have a girl. This makes them "something a little special."

Ted and Corrine are enjoying their sister's visit and are learning how much they take a lot of conveniences for granted. "She's a good sport," remarks Corrine about her houseguest. "She tries everything as far as food goes and is willing to help in any way she can."

Sharing ideas for parenthood in classrooms

"Sharing Ideas for Parenthood," a class for the parents of young children, will be offered by both the Livermore and Pleasanton adult schools this fall.

Classes Wednesday morning at the Asbury Methodist Church in Livermore commence Sept. 15 and students may register at the Livermore Adult School, 3044 East Ave. Thursday morning classes at the Christian Education Center in Pleasanton begin Sept. 23, and students may register that day at the center, 4300 Mirador Dr.

Child care is available for both sessions.

The class is designed around the needs of students, with topics such as understanding parent patterns, building self - esteem in children, discipline and sibling rivalry.

"All of us want to be good parents," says Instructor Ruth Gasten. "But we have had no training in the skills of parenting. Having a child does not automatically give people the knowledge to raise confident children who will live up to their potential.

"Many of us feel we would like to do some things differently than our parents did with us, but we don't know how. The class provides a place to discuss problems and solutions in a supportive atmosphere."

Adult school fee for the class is $4 per person.

They all scream for youth soccer

Figures alone document the attractiveness of youth soccer, which gears up for another season this weekend.

It is estimated that 10,000 kids in this area will compete under the auspices of the California Youth Soccer Association. Many of those will be involved with the sport 10 months out of the year.

That is a record for extending the attention span of rambunctious youngsters.

Soccer is popular here, no doubt. But why?

Well, it costs roughly one-fifth the amount to outfit a soccer player that it costs for a junior football player.

Young women can participate as vigorously as boys.

But economics and equal rights aside, youth soccer gets closest to the essence of sport.

It is a game of opportunity. For smaller kids and slow to develop kids, there's still the chance to play soccer. It is a team - oriented sport without the individual pressures that face a baseball pitcher or a football quarterback.

Soccer is simplicity, ably grasped by youngsters and parents who otherwise aren't tuned to athletics.

Throughout the West Coast there is a youth soccer community.

Youth teams are shuttled from San Diego to Canada for competitions. They are housed by opposing players. The opportunities for youngsters to learn of new people and new places are unparalleled.

They play to win in kids' soccer. It's no different from any other game. Most organizers have carefully structured their sport, however, to insure even competition and a chance for all team members to play.

It's a long grind from this opening weekend to the State Cup championships sometime next spring. By then only the handful of exceptional sides are still be active. There'll be no remorse, however, for those who fall by the wayside.

Win or lose, everyone will have the opportunity to play and develop, to be active, to learn the rules of the game and maybe a little about growing up with other people.

That's why they all like soccer.

Indeterminate sentence

Liberals and "law and order" conservatives agreeing, the state's 59 year old indeterminate sentence laws have been repealed. No longer will felons be committed for 1 to 10 or 2 to 20 years in prison by a judge, leaving the actual decision of how long they will be incarcerated to a parole board.

The action abandoning indeterminate sentences, long advocated by penolgists as a tool for rehabilitation, was brought about by legislation authored by Senator John A. Nejedly, a former Contra Costa County district attorney.

While Nejedly fits the law and order pattern, his measure was boosted by statements of Governor Jerry Brown that the state's prison system neither rehabilitated nor punished. He repeatedly expressed the view that prison sentences should be for punishment. Nejedly also gained support from former State Director of Corrections Richard A. Magee who reversed his long standing support of the indeterminate sentence, making the bald, and tough admission, that time and actual experience had convinced him he was wrong.

The conservative complaints against the system have been that criminals were being released from prison faster than law enforcement could put them away. But the liberals complained that many were held longer than their crimes warranted and also that the system of keeping inmates in the dark as to when they would be released was unnecessarily cruel. The Supreme Court, apparently shared that view and ordered the Adult Authority to set release dates for all prisoners within a short time after their arrival in prison, and also decreed that no prisoner could be held longer than any other convicted of the same offense.

That decision together with the influence of liberal legislators propelled passage of Nejedly's measure. It also resulted in a watering down of the penalties prescribed for various crimes.

So there will be mixed feelings among the public when the full details of the replacement law become generally known. Excepting for the death penalty or life sentences for the crimes of murder and kidnapping, the maximum prison sentence for any crime is set at 7 years against present laws which permit sentences up to 20 years for such things as arson and 15 years to life for armed robbery.

The sentences prescribed are in four ranges with the first at 16 months, 2 years or 3 years and the maximum range from 5, 6, and 7 years. Judges will be required to choose the middle sentence in each case in the absense of aggravating or mitigating circumstances. If he meets out at either end he will be required to state his reasons in writing.

It is difficult to appraise the end effects of the law but, in the face of the unsatisfactory results of the 59 year old indeterminate law, it is also difficult to criticise any of the provisions. Only time will demonstrate whether the action will provide better protection for the citizens against criminality. And, while the new penalty structures appear to be less severe than those being replaced, Nejedly points out that, generally, the fixed terms call for longer imprisonments than felons have been serving under the Adult Authority release system.

round the town

I am informed, by Associated Press, to "stand by for the sports' blizzard." AP cautions that the next six weeks could test the American TV sportsman as never before.

It may also be the living end for the American family, as we now know it.

"Baseball is later this season," I advise the dear lady who shares my own abode. This fails to get much of a rise, so I continue with my new - found AP knowledge.

"That means the playoffs won't start until Oct. 9. And that in turn shoves the World Series back to Oct. 16."

"I get the feeling you are trying to tell me something," she responds, shrewdly. "You know I don't mind baseball broadcasts and telecasts, so why the big pitch?"

It is with this warm invitation that I go on to explain the Fall Season of Televised Sporting Events. College Football is in full bloom, which of course means a game or three every Saturday, plus an occasional offering Friday evening. That pace continues through Thanksgiving, at which time the campus boob tube goes bonkers.

The National Football League, the National Basketball Association, the National Hockey League ... all will be in full, televised swing by the ides of October.

"AP says it's going to be a winter of unprecedented TV coverage of sports," I advise her, with a touch of nervousness. One never knows.

"That's nice," is her only reply. The woman has been buffalo'd, and I don't mean the O.J. variety.

"I really think television and sports have gone too far, don't you?" This is my throw - em - off - guard approach. Always works. But not today.

"Oh, I don't know," she says, sweetly. "You fellows seem to enjoy your sports so, and there's really nothing much else worth watching on television these days."

Can this be happening? Is this the same little woman who rifles through the evening paper, noisily, just when I have the Monday night baseball game of the week following the Raider Highlights? Surely this is not she of the loud - voice question and - answer session right in the midst of a Rick Barry drive to the basket (Channel 2, starting Oct. 21.)

Something is amiss. I resolve to test her further, to determine the extent of her malaise.

"AP says the networks are going to switch to evening telecasts of the baseball playoffs this year," I submit, gingerly. "It's a first."

No response. Absolutely nothing.

"And the World Series this year will actually have a Sunday evening game ... during prime time ... they expect 70 million viewers ... " And for that dramatic announcement I get a simple "Yes dear."

Then it dawns on me. The combination of TV'd sports and stubborn manhood has finally proven too much for mere females. Years of hammering ... all day Saturday ... from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. every SUNDAY .. BACK Monday night and then hitting 'em again throughout the week's prime evening hours ... it has been more than any woman can withstand. She has succumbed. She'll probably even join us! American manhood has persevered in this, his most crucial test.

"By the way," says the sweet voice from behind the unruffled newspaper, "I was in the city today and swung by one of those ticket agencies to pick up two tickets for one of the A's - Kansas City series. I remember you saying how this would be the baseball season's crucial."

Amazing! I had no idea my triumph could be so swift, so masculinely complete.

"And while I was there," she continued, "I noticed they also carried season tickets for the San Francisco Opera. Do you know we could attend every single performance this season for less money than you spent on that new set of irons. I had no idea the opera was so inexpensive ... and you've been saying for ages we ought to find some other outlet to change the same old winter pace ..."

Curses! Trapped in a bunker of my own making. Mired in the wet sand, with a 300 stroke penalty. What would Jack Nicklaus do now??

" ... we could buy just the partial season's ticket and then add three or four of the specials ... that cellist from Uruguay sounds interesting .... or else we could just buy the season's package and ..."

Damn you, John Madden! This never would have happened had you taught us viewers more about the female inside fake, instead of wasting all those half times with inane Cosell highlights. Who cares what Stabler did last week! I'm faced with a whole winter of crucials ... MacBeth or Stabler? ... Joe Namath on the 40 yard line on Channel 5, or "Norma" from the twentieth row at the Opera House?

I may be a man for all seasons, but this is ridiculous.

City vs. Kaiser

The Livermore city council finally did it!

After years and years of verbal skirmishing between the communities, the industry and the county — the latter really showing little interest in the proceedings — Livermore has brought the question of the gravel pits out into the open, as they say.

"Shall Kaiser Sand and Gravel be restrained from expanding its quarry operations until a full and complete reclamation plan is filed?" That seems to be what Mayor Helen Tirsell was asking, when she urged her council to forthright action this week.

The immediate target is just one pit owned by Kaiser. But the challenge is as big as the billion dollar extraction industry operating within this Valley, and as broad as the 3000 acres which reach from Livermore to Pleasanton, and down to depths of 100 feet, and more.

There is no feeling here (and we believe not in Mayor Tirsell's heart, either) to stop the industry which has produced jobs and taxes here for half a century. Neither does anyone seriously challenge the right of that "big four" to quarry out their lands to their ultimate, year 2000 destiny.

But the Valley's conscience cannot allow these extractions to go on under the present slipshod method. Alameda County grants the permits, but seems almost indifferent to the immediate and long - term problems that are the residue of that quarrying. The industry seems content to labor in this limbo, ignoring — or at best stalling — local questions as to traffic, proper egress for some 2000 truck trips each day, protection of the Valley environment, and ultimate disposition of thousands of acres of depleted land.

The Times has labored for years to keep this issue before the public. We insist that a problem of this magnitude cannot be continually shoved aside.

Mayor Tirsell agrees. She has called for action, and even a legal confronation, if necessary.

It might at long last provide direction ... for those depleted pits, for our truck - laden streets, and for the industry itself which is too important to flounder along this same blind alley.

The week in retrospect

School boundaries

A question obliquely tied to the conversion versus status quo situation now involving the Murray School District was broached again this past week.

Rooted in valley history, the question deals with the presence of two Pleasanton schools, Lydiksen and Donlon, in the Murray School District.

Townships, such as Murray and Pleasanton, were important jurisdictional boundaries years ago. They have been carried forward, virtually unsullied, to modern day.

Another example of organization based on townships is found on the Alameda County Board of Education.

But the times have really passed this jurisdictional arrangement by.

To get to the heart of the question then (as most recently expressed by a resident active now in Murray school affairs), should Lydiksen and Donlon remain in the Murray district?

Because of their location south of Highway 580, are they geographically better off in the Pleasanton district? Would the students benefit more facility and studies - wise?

One factor is evident. If the Murray district, today, didn't have the two Pleasanton schools, it would be in a highly - untenable position.

Projected enrollment of the two schools for 1976-77 shows Lydiksen and Donlon representing 38 per cent of the total district enrollment.

Donlon is projected to have 1,000 K-6 and 280 7-8 students and Lydiksen 739 K-6. That adds up to 2,019 of the projected Murray total of 5,284.

Another factor involved is the growth rates of the nine schools in the Murray district.

Projections gathered early this year by Wally Moreskine, director of auxiliary services for the district, indicate slight increases in enrollment for Donlon over the next four years, a leveling off at about 500 students for Dublin and declines for all other schools in the district, including Lydiksen.

Fallon, in fact, is at a critical stage. Enrollment has dipped under 300 and is projected to drop to 252 by 1979-80. Cronin and Murray are also dropping closer to the 300 enrollment mark.

Thus, if the Murray district were minus Donlon and Lydiksen, the total student count would be 3,265 (using the district's projections for 76-77) and dropping....

Any thought of placing these two schools in the Pleasanton district would really be uncalled for. It would only stand to damage the balance of the Murray district and not necessarily relieve crowded conditions at Donlon.

The answer to enrollment declines in the Murray district and how best to house seventh and eighth grade students may rest somewhere other than conversion or status quo OR placing the two Pleasanton schools in the Pleasanton district.

The answer may be improvements at Donlon, located in the Val Vista section of Pleasanton, and full utilization of the low enrollment schools — Cronin and Fallon.

Murray residents have made a few things pretty evident to the Citizens Advisory Committee and the school board. They don't want their K-6 children bused, they don't particularly care for the K-6 kids being on the same site as 7-8 youngsters and they want the neighborhood school concept retained.

Before the board makes a final determination on the conversion-status quo question, they might want to consider two other items.

One is the prospect a year or two down the road of considering closing a school, and the second is scheduling of a "mutual problems" work session with the Pleasanton Joint School District board.

Obviously, one of the questions that should be addressed should the latter take place would be merging of the Pleasanton and Murray districts.

Even the thought of merger is abhorrent to administrators, teachers and parents in some districts. But the time may be ripe again for at least batting the idea about at an informal work session.

Who knows, it might solve more problems than it could create.

Putting it off

I've not sent away for a membership card, but I'm sure I qualify for a place in the Procrastinators Club of America. These folks, 3,000 strong, were due to meet in Philadelphia recently, but they decided to postpone the convention till next year.

Procrastination is one of my strong suits. I find it sets up a situation which makes it much easier to make decisions. For example, I have been thinking about selling my car, replacing it with either another used car or perhaps a new one. I'm proud to say I have managed to postpone the decision for two months and I'm happy about all the money my habit has saved me so far.

Unfortunately many people are hesitant about procrastination, according to Les Waas, president of the Procrastinators Club of America. "There is a consistent need to be on time in America," he told reporters after postponing the national convention for another year.

His remark reminds me of a story which my guru, Swami Procrastinada, told me about the psychiatrist and his therapy group. The shrink had one client whoalways showed up late, another who was always early while the rest of the group was always on time.

One day the psychiatrist decided to change the behavior of the two deviants. In front of the whole group he got into a discussion about the feelings which underlay their behavior.

"If you're late, you're hostile," said the shrink. "And if you're early, you are full of anxiety."

The habitual latecomer said, "And if you're on time, you're compulsive."

Shocking

Well into the 26th year of existence it seemed I had successfully passed my tests of manhood.

Consider this list of accomplishments:

— Able to ignite charcoal briquets and barbeque a hamburger

— Able to hammer two boards together, though in no pattern as elaborate as say, a backyard fence

— Able to drive a stick shift Fiat up Nob Hill.

For my money that's enough ability to merit the family pants. In these days of suburban leisure and creature comfort there isn't much else to try a man's mettle.

That's what I happily concluded, anyway, until just last week.

Then it came out that the greatest challenge in all of masculinity still lay ahead. I have been pushed to a precipice by circumstance. If I do not test the yawning cavern of manhood, but instead, turn with tail implanted between legs, I'll have to give back my John Wayne decoder badge.

The problem is that we're going to England on vacation. In itself that is not a stickler. On the contrary, it could be a memorable three weeks. But here's the catch. British electricity is different than ours.

The English pump more watts or less volts through their lines. Something like that.

The bottom line is that American appliances fizzle like firecrackers when plugged into an English wall socket. This includes my electric razor.

Now since I was old enough to shave (it was sometime last summer, I seem to recalll I have used an automatic Schick.

No unsheathed blade of steel has ever desecrated my kisser. But here's some unsympathetic travel agent warning me to get ready.

There's an electronic gadget, she says, that converts English current to American current. But it works only for my wife's electric curling iron, electric hair dryer, electric tooth brush and electric home permanent center. The gismo would melt my razor like wax lips.

So it's cold iron for me, says the travel lady with evil glee.

How barbaric.

I have always treated safety and straight razors with utmost disdain. They were surely invented for some beast of the Paleozoic era, if there was even life way back then. No 20th century man should risk his features at the microscopic edge of a deadly blade.

If you ask me, Wilkinson Sword belongs in a Kipling adventure, Gillette should stick to writing theme songs for the Friday Night Fights, and Personna is strictly non grata.

Put simply, I'm terrified of a razor that doesn't whine like a Honda 50. We have one in the house. I hold it with thumb and forefinger, the business end pointing down. Wouldn't want it to go off in my face.

Frankly, when young men were skipping to Canada to avoid Vietnam, I thought of following to escape basic training. No electric powered models there, either.

I like to think of my complexion as that which is next to fine china. The wife says it's just baby fat.

A matter of semantics.

Fact is, it can't withstand constant scraping from some tempered slice of metal that could nick and cause excruciating pain.

It's a real dilemma, and one that should have been solved by now. Nations simply must make their power sources uniform. Not only for us thin skinned shavers, but for the sake of history.

Think of the consequences had Ben Franklin discovered electricity in Great Britain. He'd have blown out his kite and you'd be reading this in the dark.

For Sunday, Sept. 12, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Treat your resources with proper respect today or else you may incur some losses you could have avoided.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could get opposition from quarters today you'd least expect. Be very diplomatic in your one-to-one relationships.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Problems you'll have to contend with today are apt to be self-inflicted. Be mindful of your own thumb before swinging the hammer.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Avoid friends today who get uptight over insignificant issues. There's one pal in particular who could ruin your day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may be tempted today to take on a project that is far beyond your scope. Assess your possibilities carefully before leaping in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone whom you may cross paths with today has it in for you and is just waiting for you to say the wrong thing. Weigh your words.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not likely to be one of your better days for putting business deals together. Watch your step!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you have your head on straight, but today you could make judgments that might prove costly. Sleep on your decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be safety-minded while working today, especially if performing a distasteful task. Also — keep a close eye on your helpers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your friends won't appreciate you too much today if you try to manage their affairs. Don't butt in where you're not invited.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There could be more family discord today than need be. The source of the trouble, unfortunately, may be traceable to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's not very becoming nor does it do much to improve your image to blame others for your mistakes. Admit it if you're wrong.

Your Birthday

Sept. 12, 1976

If your selection of associates and companions is wise, this year will be a fruitful one for you. If your choices are poor you might create some problems for yourself.

Clipping call, bad breaks stop Grizzlies

BENICIA — A crucial clipping penalty was the key call as the host Benicia Panthers edged California's Grizzlies 22-18 in the opening game of the high school football season for both teams here yesterday.

With about two minutes left in the contest California's Chris Miller broke through the right side of the Benicia line on his one - yard mark and streaked 99 yards to paydirt.

However, one of the Grizzly players was called for the clipping infraction and what could have been the winning touchdown was called back. After that play the Panthers took over and ran out the clock.

California had struck paydirt first in the contest when Miller exploded into the endzone on a draw play with 10:21 left in the first half.

Miller's score was set up when Chuck Cary intercepted Benicia quarterback Sean Murphy's pass and returned it to the Panther eight. Speedy running back Willie Huff lost a yard and quarterback Tom Woodmansee's pass fell incomplete before Miller burst into the end zone.

The California touchdown started a series of second - quarter fireworks.

With just over seven minutes left in the period Benicia went ahead on a 62 - yard screen pass from Murphy to end Jack Holmes. He sweeped around the end and broke free of two Grizzly tacklers for the score. Truss Korseth's PAT gave the Panthers the lead, 7-6.

Benicia struck again two minutes later when Holmes intercepted a Woodmansee pass over the middle and broke lose for a 20 - yard score. Steve West broke through to block Korseth's PAT attempt.

On the ensuming kickoff Miller took the ball at his 10, bobbled it then went straight up the field for Grizzlies' second touchdown. The 5-11, 177 - pound running back broke free from the last Benicia tackler at the 20 and breezed into the end zone.

Again the PAT attempt failed and Benicia led 13-12.

The home team added its third touchdown on a seven - yard run around end by Murphy which culiminated a 59 - yard drive. Marty Duvall returned the kickoff to the Panther 41. Holmes broke free to the California 21 on the next play. It took three plays for the Panthers to score.

California added its final points of the day on the last play of the half.

With one second left on the clock Woodmansee, on a third - and - five situation from the five - yard line of Benicia, found Cary over the middle for the score. The pass attempt for the two - point conversion failed.

The winners added an unnecessary three points in the third period when Korseth kicked a 25 - yard field goal from an angle.

The three - pointer ended a 50 - yard drive which started on the Panther 42. Using the power running of Duvall the Panthers drove steadily down field until Korseth got into range.

Interceptions hurt the Grizzlies as Woodmansee had three of his passes picked off by alert Benicia defenders.

California gained most of its offensive yardage in the first half but the Panther depth proved to be too much for the Grizzlies. Benicia had 41 players suited up for the contest and California had just 25.

Despite the defeat California mentor Mike McGinnis felt his team played well.

"We just have to work on a few things," he admitted. "We made too many mistakes out there and that really hurt us."

The first - year coach also praised the play of Miller.

"He just likes to run," he said of the junior back. "That's his strongest asset." — by Gary Brown

Chris wins title, Connors in finals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Chris Evert solidified her position on the throne of women's tennis Saturday by crushing Evonne Goolagong 6-3, 6-0 in the final of the U.S. Open Championships.

Earlier, Jimmy Connors regained his image as a court killer and Sweden's Bjorn Borg drained the last bit of fire out of temperamental Ilie Nastase to gain the final round in the men's division.

The aggressive American from Belleville, Ill., and the methodical 20 - year - old from Stockholm will meet at the West Side Tennis Club Sunday for the $30,000 first prize.

Miss Evert's surprisingly one - sided victory, following triumphs over her Australian opponent in the 1975 Open here as well as at Wimbledon, hoisted her onto the pinnacle once shared by such tennis greats as Helen Wills Moody, Maureen Connelly and Billie Jean King.

The women's match, last of a straight - set series in the center court, was played before another capacity crowd of 16,244. Unlike their previous meetings here and at Wimbledon, the Evert - Goolagong rerun was quick and merciful.

The graceful Australian, with rare natural talent and a rich repetoire of shots, was no match for the icy, computer - like stroke - making Miss Evert from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

After a shaky start, in which she lost two straight games and won only one point, Chris rallied to take 10 games in a row in the 55 - minute match. While she played well, Miss Goolagong practically donated her points with loose, effortless play.

She was uninspired.

Connors played perhaps the finest tennis of his career in smashing Guillermo Vilas of Argentina 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. Borg was almost as devastating in wiping out Nastase 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Wolfe, Bowles lead LP tournament

Vic Wolfe is back on his own court and the Las Positas Men's Golf Club is well aware of it.

Wolfe, along with Gean Bowles, fired a 71 to lead yesterday's first round play in the Las Positas Men's Golf Club championships at the Livermore links.

Wolfe won last year's club championship with a score of 221. Two strokes behind at 73 loom Bob Fulton and Steve Dalberti.

Leader of the first flight, with handicaps 0-10, was John Fisher who fired a blazing 65. Bowles is right on the heels of Fisher with a 66 score.

Terry Thelen, flight winner of last year's championships, teamed with Don Davis to lead the second flight with scores of 66. Golfers with handicaps from 11 to 13 fall into that grouping.

Jack Hannigan and Steve Miller both fired net scores of 66 to lead the third flight, with handicaps of 14 to 18 applying.

Leaders of the fourth flight, with a score of 65, is Mike Karnavouras. Two strokes behind him at 67 lies Bob Gallagher. Closest to the hole during yesterday's play was Dalberti who layed one up numeral one 1-6 — from the hole.

The second round begins today with another round of 18 holes. Next Saturday, the final round will be played and the champion determined.

Besides Thelen who last year won the first flight, but is in the second flight this year, three other golfers will defend their flight championships. Bill Lewis, Lyle Head, and Arch Schumacher all won titles in 1975.

San Jose was leading 41-0 at the half. Kane, who ran for 63 yards in three carries in the first half, did not return to action in the third quarter.

Smith, Trimble take easy win

Second - seed Bob Eyler and Pat Long won their opening - round match over Bill Hetherington and Janet Renta, 6-1, 6-1. The tournament concludes next Saturday with the championship match.

College grid roundup

Bears' defense caves in Georgia struck for two touchdowns in less than a minute to defeat an explosive California squad, 36-24 yesterday in Athens, Georgia.

A 26-yard interception return set up a Georgia touchdown and cinched the victory for the Bulldogs.

In other games involving Northern California major colleges yesterday Penn State held off visiting Stanford 15-12 and the Air Force dumped University of the Pacific 36-3.

California, which led the nation in total offense last season, built up a 24-12 advantage in the third period behind the deadly throwing of quarterback Joe Roth and wide receiver Wesley Walker.

Roth hit Walker on first - half scoring passes of 65 and 88 yards, the second one the longest in California's long history.

However, in the third quarter, Georgia's offensive line began to overpower the California defensive front wall.

After Johnny Henderson's critical interception return Georgia quarterback Mat Robinson hit Gene Washington with a 33-yard touchdown pass to give the Bulldogs the lead to stay.

Ray Goff scored the final Georgia touchdown in the final quarter on a 12-yard run. Allan Leavitt's added the winners' final points on a field goal.

Penn State converted three first - period fumbles into a pair of touchdowns and a field goal in its victory over Stanford.

Freshman Matt Suhey, who gained 119 yards rushing for the winners, raced six yards for one touchdown and junior halfback Steve Geise added a one - yard plunge for the other Nittany Lion TD. Matt Bahr kicked a 33-yard field goal.

Giants lose

Burt Campaneris's sacrifice fly drove in Bill Garner with the winning run in the eighth inning.

Mikes Torres threw a six - hitter for Oakland.

Dave Concepcion's three - run double in the eighth inning whiped out a San Francisco lead and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 8-5 victory at Candlestick Park.

Tony Perez belted his 17th home run of the season in the ninth stanza for the Reds' final run.

Gary LaVelle, 8-6, was the losing pitcher.

Friday football roundup

Mats, Pokes win, AV, Gaels, Falcons fall

Rushing rambles over Titans

SAN LEANDRO — Vance Rushing lived up to his name and Don Couch got his first season-opening win in three years as the fourth - ranked Granada Matadors jumped on several Marina High School mistakes for a 30-7 win at Burrell Field here Friday night.

Rushing, stifled along with the rest of the Mat offense in the first half, exploded for 147 yards and three touchdowns in the second. In the waning moments of the game, he explained how the Titans had shut down Granada's running game in the first two periods.

"They had a whole bunch of guys on the right side of the line and they were all keying on me," he said. "But in the second half, our line really started to open some holes."

Rushing was quick to add that the Granada line did its job on defense all along (10 Mats go both ways) and the statistics bore him out. Marina, which got a fine 46 per cent, 117-yard passing performance from quarterback Tom Griffin, was held to 49 yards rushing.

Couch was enthused by the Mats hard-hitting defense. "We were really worried about that," he said. "But we got some things to work."

Granada's first 23 points all came on the heels of Titan errors.

With under two minutes to play in the second period, Griffin's pitch eluded Jon Tannehill and Mike Tearney chased the running back into the end zone for a safety.

In the third quarter, Kevin Gosney intercepted a pass at the Marina 20 and six plays later, Rushing went in standing up. A few minutes later, Leon Rhine's punt sailed out of bounds at the line of scrimmage and the Mats took five plays to set ance up for another score.

A pass from junior quarterback Steve Robison to tight end Rick Bosch capped a brief dirve that started with a one-yard punt by harrassed Ed Riewerts.

Rushing made the final TD play himself, however, side-stepping Steve Seloven and Dave Albright at his own 35 and racing 86 yards for the final score of the game. Brian McSharry added all four PAT's.

All-EBAL linebacker Larry Burke suffered a badly ripped mouth in the early moments and played only sporadically the rest of the way. But, the game doctor said he should be O.K. for next week's action.

Cowboys edge by Spartans

CASTRO VALLEY — Another mistake and it would have seemed like the first day of spring training instead of the opening game in a new football season.

But Livermore High managed to do enough right Friday night for a 17-12 non league victory over Castro Valley.

With three fumbles, an interception and repeated confusion in the backfield, Livermore tried to give the game away. The Cowboys did everything but hold a raffle.

But Pat Powles' two touchdown runs, a 36-yard Charlie Bockover field goal and good play by that massive defensive line was enough to offset the early season goofs.

Powles, Livermore's finest small back since Mike Payne left three years ago, gained 103 yards on 18 tries. He ran 22 yards for a score with his first rushing attempt this season, the play set up after a Tim Palmer interception for Livermore.

He punched over from the two-yard line late in the game to keep the Spartans out of reach.

Castro Valley revolved around quarterback Bill Plant, who completed six of 12 passes for 149 yards and two touchdowns to wide receiver Dave Bonvicin. The scoring bombs covered 66 and 18 yards.

Plant tried to engineer a comeback victory for Castro Valley in the final two minutes of play, aided immensely by Livermore's biggest mistake.

Cowboy quarterback Rick Gildea threw an interception at his own 48 yard line, and after Bill Martin returned the ball to the 26, Castro Valley was in business.

But on fourth down from the 17, Plant was smothered by submarining linebacker Dennis Hopkins, and the game was over.

The Cowboy defense was dominant all night long. Hopkins, 200, tackle Wad Andrade, 250, and guard Gary Tennyson, 230, shut down Castro Valley with just 64 rushing yards. The Spartans ran off just 39 plays to 57 for the Cowboys.

Goodison injury hurts AV

Unable to halt a bruising Mission San Jose ground game and burdened by the loss of star tailback Mike Goodison to an ankle injury, Amador High suffered a 13-0 whitewash at the hands of the Warriors Friday night in pre - season varsity football action in Pleasanton.

The Warriors, without completing a pass, heavily dominated the Dons in the second half after the teams battled to a scoreless standoff at the intermission.

Prior to the break, the Dons, although showing the signs of pre - season butterflies, looked fairly impressive on defense, while Goodison controlled the offense. The Don senior carried the ball 12 times and gained 72 yards before spraining his ankle on the final play of the first half.

"As far as we know, it's an ankle sprain," said offensive line coach Larry Brabbin. "It hurts. We lost two key players." Earlier in the game, linebacker Mike Hoff was pulled due to an injury.

The Warriors garnered 262 yards on the ground, 130 of them coming from swift flanker Pat Huckaby, who continuously ran around end for major pickups in important situations.

Gael backs shine in defeat

FREMONT — Jim Boulware and Chuck Gangnuss combined for 315 yards rushing but Dublin High School still fell to American High School 41-32 at Tak Fudenna Stadiun here Friday night.

The main reason for American's victory was the running of Mark Miller, who scored four times and gained 231 yards on the ground.

Bradley throttles Falcons

FAIRFIELD — Many football coaches and observers say that games are decided by two or three big plays.

Foothill High School head coach John Lupoi is a believer in that theory, particularly after watching his Falcons lose their 1976 opener to hosting Vanden, 21-0 here Friday night.

A 5-9, 155 - pound running back by the name of Kenny Bradley scored all three touchdowns for the winners, two coming on big plays. His first TD came with 6:17 left in the first quarter when he took a sideline pass from quarterback Chris Harrington and raced 56 yards for the first score.

He scored his second touchdown with nine minutes left in the second period on an eight - yard run up the middle. That culiminated a six - play, 30 - yard drive set up by an interception.

Bradley added his final touchdown with 1:21 left in the contest, racing 65 yards down the sidelines to end the night's scoring.

Foothill outgained the winners 297-235 and had ball control in the first half. However, they couldn't overcome Bradley's feats and three interceptions.

Wolves overcome Ells

Lyle Setencich had to shake more hands than a presidential candidate Friday night after his San Ramon Wolves opened their season by decking visiting Harry Ells of Richmond, 23-12.

San Ramon's football program, once among the best in the area, has seen hard times lately, so Wolves' fans hope Friday's come-from-behind win over 15th-ranked Ells indicates an SR revival.

Setencich has a perfect — 1-0 — mark as San Ramon coach after moving over last year from an Albany program he greatly upgraded.

Despite dominating the statistics and control of the ball, the Wolves trailed, 12-0, late in the third quarter. But they erased Ells' lead in less than two minutes, thanks to a pair of Falcon turnovers.

Raiders host Steelers

Four pre-season statistical leaders will be on the Oakland Coliseum field today when the Raiders host Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh in a regular season-opening showdown.

Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw was the American Football Conference's leading passer with 77 completions and 1022 yards.

Oakland provides the other trio of superlative performers, substitute defensive back Charles Phillips tied for the AFC interception lead with Miami free safety Barry Hill. Each had four. Ray Guy finished third in punting with a 44.2 average.

Carl Garrett, sparked by a 96-yard touchdown on the opening boot of the loss to Los Angeles, led in kick-off returns with a 34.0 average, 204 yards on six returns.

Meanwhile, tight end Dave Casper, a starter now that Bob Moore is gone via the expansion draft, beat out Ted Kwalick for the starting spot by grabbing 14 passes for 141 yards and two touchdowns. He tied for the Raider lead in catches with Fred Biletnikoff, who gained 214 yards.

The Steelers already-potent running game received a shot in the arm during the exhibition slate as fifth-round draft choice Jack Deloplaine led Pittsburgh in rushing with 240 yards on 40 carries.

KNOW YOUR FOOD

HOW FOOD AFFECTS YOU

Q. I know protein is important . . . but WHY?

A. The nutrient protein is needed by every cell in your body. As a child grows, his muscles and other body tissues are built from proteins. Although adults are no longer growing, they need proteins to build and repair their muscle cells, red blood cells, bone cells, and other important tissues.

Q. Just what does calcium do?

A. In growing children, calcium helps build the bones which form the framework of the body. Calcium also helps build teeth, helps muscles work and nerves to carry messages. It also helps blood to clot and helps maintain a normal heartbeat.

Q. I know my body needs iron but I'd like to know just why?

A. The mineral iron is needed by all cells, especially the red blood cells. These cells carry oxygen from the air you breathe to all cells in your body. Without enough iron, you may feel tired and rundown.

Q. Why do I need vitamin A?

A. Vitamin A is needed for normal growth. It helps you see in the dark and helps protect you from infection by keeping the linings of your mouth and digestive system in good condition.

Q. Why is vitamin C important?

A. Vitamin C helps hold your body cells together and keeps the walls of your blood vessels strong. It is also needed to heal wounds.
